

Student of the Week

Jordan

Sept 19th- 30th, 2011

(extended because of short week due to elections)

Jordan modeled so many attributes of the AISL student profile:

Jordan was caring when he played nicely with his friends.

He said lots of nice, kind things this week. He was very caring.

When he was playing a game in class he said I could go first. He was a good communicator.

I wanted him to play with me one time and he played with Nikola and I. He was caring.

Jordan is a thinker. He thinks about the different games people like when its free time.

Jordan is principled. When the teachers are talking he listens and learns from them.

Jordan was a risk taker this week when he was the first to talk in the assembly.

Way to go Jordan! We are so proud of you and all your good work in Grade One so far!
